OUR RAILROAD DIRECTORS.—Some of the Nashville papers reflect very severely on the Board of Directors elected at Waverly, Monday last. With the members from the Nashville end we have no acquaintance. Those from this section, Sam'l Landrum, J. H. Davis, H. A. Tyler, and John A. Lauderdale, of this place; J. E. Vincent, and Geo. W. Martin, of Weakley; and Chas. Gibbs, of Obion, are gentlemen of high standing socially, politically, morally, and every other way. There is no carpet bag about them—but are citizens of long residence, property holders, and men of intelligence. Politically, they have no sympathy with Gov. Brownlow, or any of his "rings," and are not likely to ever have. We want our Nashville friends to "go slow." We live in quite as strong houses as some of them.

PROBATION.—Persons having Furniture repaired can save time and money by calling at Oswald's Furniture Manufactory.

The Bankrupt Law.
The United States Senate, as appears from a dispatch to the New York press from Washington, refuses to extend the time for voluntary application under the Bankrupt Law. Hence, the law virtually expires to day. The following is the dispatch:

It is stated, on authority of a letter from a Senator to the Clerk of the Bankruptcy Court here, that the Judiciary Committee will not report House bill extending the time for creditors whose assets will not pay 50 percent of the debt, to file petitions in bankruptcy, till the first of January.

Forty Persons Poisoned by Eating Ice Cream.
From the Memphis Avalanche.

We learn by a gentleman directly from Helena, Ark., of a frightful occurrence, which had thrown consternation and intense excitement over that city. Over 40 persons were poisoned by partaking of ice cream, and it was feared a number of them would die. They were in a cotton gin, and the entire community was greatly excited. The particulars that we were able to gather are briefly as follows: The proprietor of an ice cream saloon, a Frenchman, made up a large quantity of ice cream, the first of the season, and it was distributed gratis, and freely partaken by his friends. Shortly afterward, all who tasted the cream were seized with violent pain, and most of them were prostrated, and in a critical condition when our informant passed the city. Four members of the Frenchman's family were among those afflicted.

Mr. Coolidge, the telegraph operator, and his wife, were both down, and the recovery of the latter is considered doubtful. A bucket full of the ice cream had been sent to the Female College, and freely partaken of by the young ladies, and they were all dangerously taken down. Various others were likewise afflicted.

The doctors had analyzed some of the cream. They pronounced the poison to be arsenic. There were no well defined conjunctures in regard to the cause of the terrible affair. Whether it was the work of some malicious fiend, or of those terrible creatures with declining appetites and avaricious hearts, is a question which future investigations may answer; but in the meantime the catastrophe remains unexplained.

A SCALAWAG IN A BAD FIX.
A Scalawag, a Georgia delegate to the Chicago Convention, has been arrested in Chicago, at the instance of James Crangle, an Illinois lawyer, who brings suit for $100,000 damages, on the ground that when he (Crangle) visited Augusta, in 1860, to collect a commercial debt, this same Scalawag incited a mob to offer him violence as an Abolitionist, seeking to stir up a servile insurrection. The mob broke into Crangle's chamber, placed a rope around his neck, and led him down stairs to a gallows, which had been erected for him from the balcony of the hotel. From this difficult position he was rescued by the police of the city, who conducted him to jail, the mob, in the meanwhile, making way with his raiment and his valuable contents. It is further alleged that Blodgett appeared before a Justice of the Peace, and there accused him of being an inciter of servile war, an Abolitionist, and an Abolition lecturer. Some time after that, there was an examination, followed by an acquittal, which was a severe blow to the Scalawag, but by plaintiff being taken to the office of Mr. Blodgett, as Mayor of Augusta, when he (Blodgett) spit in his face, kicked him, and beat him, inciting the bystanders to like acts of all this dignity. In consequence of all this, Crangle charges that he was compelled to leave his home, at Savannah, to his great loss. The case is in progress.

If a man had asked Eve for a kiss, would the latter without profanity have replied, "I don't care, I am, if you want."

Town Talk.

The times are dull and monotonous. No political, local, or other items sufficient to make a theme. Business men who creep not walk, and while away these fast warm growing days, posting books, whittling, and speculating as to the future for themselves and neighbors. Street corner clerks are now enjoying a luxurious quiet—these living drones to society being at this time without a sensation—yield generally without a struggle to the weather, and to the annoyance of their more industrious neighbors spread themselves upon the counter or bench.

No word of reproach about him is said. No tar, and no ink spread upon him. But he lays like a dog taking his rest. These lines are machine work, and are offered as a gentle reminder to those "good natured fellows" who have "nothing to do."

MANUFACTURERS.—How strange that the well wishers of our town will never prosper. We understand the proprietors of a large Woolen Factory, now located at Cadiz, Ky., propose moving their establishment to this place under proper encouragement. Shall they have it? This factory challenges all Yankee-made, and is capable of manufacturing any quantity and the best quality of jeans, and all kinds of woolen goods. Some years ago the owners of a manufacturing establishment proposed to a small village in Ohio to establish a factory in the place, if they could get five thousand dollars assistance. The aid was given, and that little village is today a city of between 15,000 and 20,000 inhabitants. This establishment of this kind will invite another, and the necessities of the additional population will draw new houses of every description into existence. We trust our property holders and business men will be alive to this interest.

SCHOOLS.—Another point absolutely pre-requisite to prosperity is the establishment of schools. The educational interest of the town, and community was sufficient long since, if properly directed, to have established splendid institutions of learning. Beside the education of our own youth, the business interest and prosperity of the town needs the establishment of two good colleges—male and female. Towns much smaller and not so well located as Hickman have established and maintained such schools—a living pride and ornament to the town, and a blessing to the country. Is it not a good field for individual investment? We dare say, some professional teachers, or some institutions would meet with most liberal encouragement. Why will not some of our churches or societies, move in the matter? The educational advantages offered by such institutions would soon draw all the religious or sectarian prejudices which might at first be engendered.

KIRKPATRICK'S STUDIO.—We are glad to say to the friends of Art, that our fellow-townman, Mr. Sam Kirkpatrick is fitting up his studio in the Landrum block, and though his room, owing to its high elevation, is not well adapted to ladies who are not partial to climbing high stairways, we can well say that his splendid specimens of both portraits and landscapes will well repay the fatigue of the ascent. At another time, when Mr. K. completes the arrangement of his rooms, we shall notice more particularly at length his work. He has orders now from ten or more citizens for portraits. For the ordinary size portrait, he charges $15.

SANITARY.—Now that the sticky season is approaching would it not be well for our city authorities to commence at once the enforcement of such sanitary regulations as may best protect our town from the visit of cholera, etc., this summer. We already hear of scattering cases of cholera at New Orleans, and in the South, and now when the suggestion can create no alarm urge the thorough cleansing up of the city.

Fire.—On Thursday morning, about 4 o'clock, the Masonic Hall in Witting's buildings was discovered to be on fire. The alarm was given, and the fire extinguished before much damage was done. About ten feet space of the platform erected for officers of the lodge, some window curtains, etc., were destroyed. The Chapter had been in session the night previous, and the Tyler, whose duty it is to see that the lights are extinguished, etc., and who is a very careful man, says that all these things were attended to. The opinion is generally entertained that it was the work of incendiary. Mr. Witting had no insurance on the building, or his store underneath.

PUBLIC HALL.—There is a serious want felt in this city, the supplying of which will depend upon some gentleman whose means are equal to his public spirit, or upon such a combination of enterprising citizens as will include both capital and enterprise. We refer to the want of a suitable public hall. We need a hall built especially for public lectures and exhibitions, with the modern adaptation of architecture to acoustics, conveniently and comfortably arranged and furnished, and capacious enough to accommodate our largest audiences.

Such a building would be a public benefit. Lectures which amuse, instruct and improve—music which charms and elevates—readings, essays, public gatherings of every kind, would render it an attractive place of resort, and bring many of our young men to spend an innocent and useful hour, instead of wasting it in worse company or worse places. That it would prove profitable there can be no doubt. Travelling exhibitions and our own amateurs would go far towards making the investment profitable.

General Combs Heard From.
[From the Quincy Herald.]
The following extract of a letter received in this city, from Lealie Combs, the great-granddaughter of the General, adds some interesting particulars to the services of the General rendered the Whig party:

My Dear Newspaper: I received your letter of the 16th, but have been delayed in answering it. I could have your photograph to send your wife, as requested. You know I carried Kentucky for the Union cause in 1860 by over twenty-three thousand majority over the Breckinridge succession Democratic candidate. I have ever since been a Union man, but because I believe God made man and should not be tampered with, I have not more than a polecat is a lion. I am denounced and proscribed by the present Radical negro maniacs as a disloyal citizen—as a "copperhead." The crowned heads of Europe are now, no doubt, laughing at us and our model republic, running so rapidly into a negro swamp. We seem to have taken part, miserable Mexico as our model instead of obeying the Constitution and the laws. God help us!

I rely on the common sense of the people and their patriotism, rebuke the original sinners, men now for lower at Washington and consign the nation to infamy. Yours, truly, LEALIE COMBS.

INDIAN HERB DOCTOR.—We call attention to the advertisement of the Indian Herb Doctor, to be found in this paper. He refers to a number of prominent citizens of Southern Kentucky, known to some of our citizens, as to his merits and qualifications. He asks the public to give him a fair trial before they conclude. He has treated several patients in our own midst, to whom he refers, among them, Mr. W. H. Gardner and James A. Overton.
